Feasibility study initiated; Bay bond issue 'only answer'

By RICH ADAMS
The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board took the first official step toward requesting a bond issue Tuesday night when it authorized Superintendent J.D. McCullough to check costs of a feasibility study.
The board said it wants a growth prediction study prior to deciding if a bond issue is necessary or if it may do required construction with short-term loans.
Bobbie Manieri, member of the Bay High Tiger Band Aides, present at Tuesday's 'workshop' board meeting, said she feels the band is being neglected because no provisions for a new band hall are included in immediate construction plans.

Board Member James Ginn suggested last month the board 'piecemeal' needed classrooms at North Bay Elementary with existing short-term loans, but at the workshop Tuesday he asked for a bond issue.
"The only way we can get rid of trailers at North Bay—the only way we can do anything at all—is through a bond issue," Ginn said Tuesday.
"But I am not sure the climate is ready for a bond issue," he added.
McCullough said the school district owes $778,301 on bond issues passed in 1960 and 1965 for North Bay and the Senior High School.
The superintendent said the school system will be able to borrow $3,721,699 on a new bond issue request.

Ginn, however, said he does not think the public, unaware of the city's educational needs, will vote for a bond issue at this time.

"In my position (as bank vice-president) I talk to a lot of people. One of the reasons other Gulf Coast communities have grown and ours has not is because of the school system," Ginn

Shoreline Park youth drowned

By RICH ADAMS
An eight-year-old Shoreline Park youth drowned in a canal Monday after a 2.5 hour attempt to revive him failed, according to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr.

Jim Wheat was pronounced dead at Hancock General Hospital at 4:30 p.m. after he had been pulled from the water which almost claimed his brother's life as well, Ladner reported.

The official death notice, however, states the youth died at the scene of the accident.

Ladner said the boy and his 11-year-old brother Danny, neither of whom could swim, were floating on a surfboard in Texas Bayou when the eight-year-old fell off into the water.

The older boy attempted to dive in and save his brother, but reportedly went under also, the sheriff said.

A friend of the two boys playing nearby saw the boys go under and reported it to Dee Pardee and George Weeks, neighbors of the youths, the sheriff continued.

Dillard 'Buck' Wheat, the boys' father, was working in an iron works plant in Covington, La., when the incident took place, Ladner explained. The neighbors called the sheriff's department, who in turn called Bay St. Louis police, the Waveland Fire Department, the Hancock County Civil Defense Department, and the East Hancock Fire Department for assistance.

Upon arrival at the site, the rescue units found the older Wheat brother on Ladner Jr. weeps with joy in the photo above after receiving word from the hospital Monday that eight-year-old Jim Wheat of Shoreline Park had a chance of surviving a drowning. Ladner had attempted to resuscitate the youth after the boy was pulled from a canal, where he had been for 45 minutes. "I told you I saw his eye move," Ladner exclaimed in the photo below. Attempts by Hancock General Hospital emergency personnel failed, however, and the child died. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

Armed robbery suspects sought

By RICH ADAMS
Law enforcement agencies in South Mississippi and Louisiana are still searching for two men who entered a Bay St. Louis jewelry store Monday, bound four employees and two customers, and robbed the store and customers of an undisclosed amount of jewelry and money.

Hancock County Sheriff's deputies and Bay St. Louis police established local roadblocks Monday morning and Slidell police blocked their borders searching for the two armed robbers.

But by late Wednesday afternoon the search remained futile, according to Hancock County Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson.

According to Peterson and Bay Police Chief Douglas Williams, two black men attempted to enter Seymour's Jewelry Store in the Bay St. Louis Shopping Center Monday shortly before 10 a.m., but were turned away because the store was not yet open.

The robbers returned about 10:15 a.m. and browsed through the shop for a few minutes before each pulled a small pistol and tied up the four employees, police reported.

During the hold-up, two customers entered the store and were also bound, one of the customers being robbed of $1,000 in cash intended for deposit in a nearby bank, Peterson said.

The six captives in the store were bound with masking tape, electrical and telephone wires, the police reported.

One employee, Uless Bergeron Jr., was working in the rear of the shop and was apparently not aware a robbery was in progress, Peterson continued.

"The robber walked in on (Bergeron) and stuck a gun in his face," Peterson recounted.

"Bergeron grabbed the robber's arm, SUSPECTS SOUGHT-Page 2A and was, in turn, hit on the forehead by the gunman with the butt of his gun," the deputy added.

Bergeron was not seriously injured and was treated at Hancock General Hospital and released, Williams said.

The two thieves then ran from the store, fleeing down a side alley to the rear, where the car they were driving—a brown-beige Lincoln Continental bearing Louisiana tags—was parked, Peterson said.

Two youths witnessed the get-away and were able to make out part of the license number, which the police used in their early search efforts.

A check of the reported license number showed the car registered to a Metairie, La. man. The tag had expired in 1977, police said, but the car was apparently not reported stolen.

Peterson said law enforcement agencies are now looking for two black men, one five-feet, 10-inches tall, wearing blue jeans with a faded streak on the back of the left leg and a silky, red wine-colored shirt.

The other suspect was wearing a knit cap, weighed slightly more than his accomplice or some 180 to 190 pounds, and had a moustache, Peterson reported.

Williams said the robbers netted rings, cigarette lighters, 14 karat earrings, and diamond rings.

The police chief added the value of the missing items will not be known until an inventory is made of all jewelry in the store.

Bay St. Louis Police and the Sheriff's Department received assistance in roadblocks and searching for the robbers from Slidell Police and Harrison County law enforcement agencies.

"These two men are armed and dangerous," Peterson said of the perpetrators.

"We have all units out looking for the two robbers," he added.

Chief Williams pointed out the incident was the first armed robbery in more than a year in Bay St. Louis.

"This was a very serious situation, and we are lucky nobody was killed," Williams said.

"We are going to stay behind this matter and do everything possible to apprehend the robbers and bring them to justice," Williams added.

Peterson reported Tuesday that a detective from Mesquite, Texas, has contacted local officials to report an escaped prisoner from his jail matches the description and modus operandi of the Bay St. Louis robber.

The Texas official, who reported the escapee is a native of Mississippi, said he will send a picture to local officials to show to witnesses, the chief deputy added.

Peterson said the prisoner in Texas had committed similar daytime armed robberies of jewelry stores in that state.

Descriptions of the perpetrators have been entered on the National Crime Information Center network to obtain information on past incidents elsewhere with similar MOs, Peterson said.

The chief deputy said he is also seeking an artist to make a composite drawing from witness accounts, in addition to sending evidence from the Bay robbery to the crime laboratory in Gulfport to be screened for fingerprints.

A man who was loyal to God, country and family

Yesterday, Henry Capdepon Sr., a man who was loyal to God, country and his family, was laid to rest.

A 17-year-old graduate of St. Stanislaus in 1917, he joined the United States Marine Corps where he fought what has been described as one of the great wars of the modern era, World War I.

While in Paris, Mr. Capdepon attended the first caucus on formation of an organization which was to become the American Legion.

The native son of Hancock County was recently honored for 60 years of service as an American Legionnaire, an award to which very, very few can lay claim.

He served six times as commander of Clement R. Bontemps Post No. 139 of the American Legion in Bay St. Louis, as well as holding other local and state positions as a Legionnaire.

We had the opportunity of interviewing him on several occasions, and were fortunate to have known him all of our lives.

In the cause of gathering one interview, we introduced him to fellow Legionnaire E. Dave McCutcheon of Pass Christian prior to the recent American Legion Convention in New Orleans. Mr. McCutcheon was a delegate to the first caucus of the American Legion in St. Louis, so the two long-time Legionnaires, who had never met before, really enjoyed swapping the old war stories.

We regret the fact that Mr. Capdepon will not be able to receive the honor planned for him of being the distinguished guest of the national American Legion commander at the 61st convention in Houston, Texas later this year.

The community will miss Mr. Capdepon. We know his wife, son, daughters, grandchildren and relatives have lost a great family man.

His church and church family will remember his love for God.

American Legion Post No. 139 will miss a loyal American. The memories of you, Mr. Capdepon, will be carried by your friends in Hancock County for many years to come.

Bits 'n pieces

We are happy to see new signs have been erected to warn swimmers of the deep hole off Beach Boulevard near Gulfside Methodist Assembly and Buccaneer State Park. We realize the signs are not a cure for the 'trap', but they are a warning. We are still waiting for someone to come up with a permanent solution to the hole.

The pile of fill at the head of North Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis is a start in removing the hazard created recently when a vehicle knocked out the guard railing. Something of a more permanent nature must be erected. We know signs have been installed on numerous occasions marking the dead end, but it has been several years since we have seen one in the area.

We had occasion to meet this past week with Mr. Peter J. McGovern of Williamsport, Pa., Chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Little League Baseball.

Mr. McGovern paid a personal visit to our own Donn Murray, president of the Bay St. Louis Little League.

On the opening of the season this year, Murray received an award from League headquarters as the 'Most Outstanding Little League President in the United States.' Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett made Mr. McGovern an Honorary Citizen of the City.

Debbie Anselmo and other members of Therapy Swimming Program, Inc. should be commended for their time and efforts in working with the handicapped.

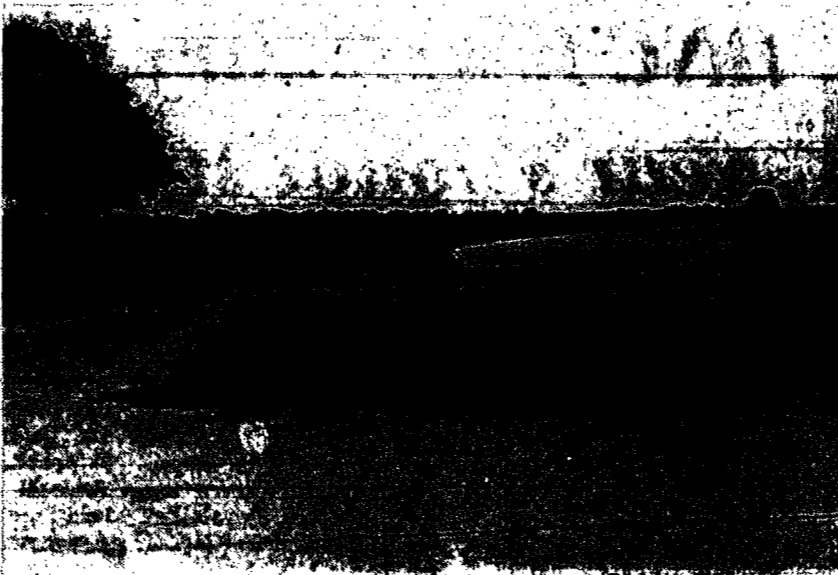

We know Mrs. Anselmo has worked very hard soliciting funds to promote handicapped aquatic activities. Anyone interested in offering aide to the program can visit the St. Clare's Pool between 9 a.m. and noon.

We are happy to hear reports from the Mississippi Highway Patrol leader persons who drive over the 55-mph speed limit will be ticketed. Highways 90, 607, 603 and I-10 sure have their share of those doing over 55, some better than 70. All we say is, Catch 'em, Highway Patrolmen.

"Long Beach is a good example. They have a good name in education. People there are interested in the education of children. As our area grows, we need a good educational system," he added.

The board discussed many needed items, and considered the cost of a new elementary school and junior high school.

Architect Fred Wagner said the board must reach a decision as to when a school has outlived its purpose and must be replaced.

"A building has a point when its usable, practical lifetime is finished and no more money should be spent on it," Wagner told the board.

"Take the junior-high school. The site is too small, it doesn't begin to meet with the fire code. We had no idea the plaster was weakening in the ceiling," he added, referring to a ceiling collapse in December which prompted the school board to replace all ceilings in the school.

"That one incident involved us in $30,000 in repairs. What you must decide is at what point the building is obsolete. I don't know," Wagner said.

"If you are talking about air conditioning North Bay, that would leave the junior high the only school not air conditioned. When you talk air conditioning at the junior high, that is big money," he continued.

"If you build a new junior high school, it will cost $2 to $2.5 million," he added.

Ginn speculated on community growth, noting some 25,000 new jobs opening upon completion of an Army Ammunition Plant at the National Space Technological Laboratories site, a new Borg Warner plant at Port Bienville, and DuPont plant in DeLisle, which he said will soon open.

"I think we must be realistic in this matter," Ginn said.

"Nobody likes a bond issue, but at this point I can see no other way to do this," he added.

Wagner had drawn plans proposing construction of four new classrooms at North Bay, renovation of existing office space into three classrooms, renovation of the existing cafeteria into office space and a library, and construction of a new food service building.

Ginn had asked the board earlier to use money available to construct the new rooms, adding more as Educational Finance Commission funds become available.

McCullough said Tuesday the board has $70,440 available in EFC funds, adding the proposed renovation of North Bay will cost $610,000.

Ginn asked if the money can be used to build in the piecemeal fashion he suggested, and the superintendent said emergencies may arise which require the board to use the EFC money for other matters.

"You don't ever know...a storm could come up tonight and tear the roof off of a school. That will be an emergency situation," McCullough said.

Wagner then said construction needed at the Junior High School and Waveland, coupled with the North Bay projects, almost constitutes building a new school.

"With six new classrooms needed at Waveland and a net two classrooms needed at North Bay, that is almost a new school," Wagner said.

"As I said before, you should determine what the optimal size of the school will be, and once that is surpassed, build a new plant," the architect continued.

"We are almost at the point where it becomes necessary to build a new elementary and junior high school," he added.

Bobbie Maneri then asked the board if it plans on constructing a band hall planned 14 years ago in the senior high bond issue.

Wagner said a new, correct band hall will cost in the vicinity of $1 million. Board President Virginia Gex said the band hall is not on a long-range plan filed with the EFC.

Mrs. Maneri asked if the board is considering a plan proposed by the Band Aides last month in which the U.S. Navy Seabees will build a band hall free of charge if the school supplies the materials.

Wagner said the Seabees are capable of constructing small, warehouse-type buildings, but added he does not believe they are capable of constructing an acoustic building required for the band.

"I am frustrated. Those kids need a new band hall," Mrs. Maneri said after the meeting.

"If the board is not careful, the school will not even have a band. The kids are getting tired of the poor facilities here," she added.

After much more discussion, the board agreed on obtaining a feasibility study to compute projected growth in Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Board Member Walter Turcotte warned the board of a situation he heard occurred in Pico, Texas, where the population increased so much in such a little time the schools were inadequate.

"That could happen to us in three to five years," Turcotte said.

The board authorized McCullough to examine costs for the feasibility study and report back to the board at a special meeting slated June 21 at 6:30 p.m.

Urges expediting bond issue election

June 11, 1979

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, MS.

Dear Sir:

I agree with your editorial of June 10, 100 percent.

It is time for all concerned citizens to realize that more schools are needed in Hancock County, and the longer the delay the higher the costs of building will be.

Overcrowded classrooms are cheating the children of the best education that they are entitled to.

There is something very wrong somewhere when the figures are not correct regarding the amount the County School System can seek.

I for one hope they can get enough to do the job right.

As a property owner in the County, I cannot vote for the Bond Issue although I will be taxed, yet I am for it 100 percent.

The children need better schools, more schools, and more teachers.

Let us all remember this, "The children of today are the future of tomorrow."

Respectfully,
Mrs. Nina Garcia

School patrons given minute duplication ok

By RICH ADAMS

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board Monday authorized a group of school patrons to reproduce 18 months of school board minutes provided the group pays for labor and materials.

The board voted unanimously in favor of allowing North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization President Lana Noonan, Carmella Boyd, and Charles Gottschalk to copy the 36 pages of school records provided they pay for secretarial time and eight cents a sheet for paper.

The decision ends a conflict between Bay Superintendent J.D. McCullough and the patrons which arose last month when McCullough said he could not authorize the patrons to reproduce the records.

The superintendent told the trio he did not have the authority to set prices and said he would have to place the matter before the board.

Noonan claimed she was being denied her rights, adding she wanted the records to study and note discrepancies in the minutes.

At Monday's meeting, Board Attorney Lucien Gex said he knows of no law which forbids copies of official minutes to be made, but added the board should set up a policy governing when reproductions may be allowed.

To keep out frivolous inquiries, the board should establish standards for reasonable, legitimate reasons for the copies, not just so someone can say "I have copies of the board's minutes," Gex told the board.

"A reasonable request will be for historic study or litigation," he added.

Board Member James Ginn moved the present request for copies be allowed, adding he feels a future meeting should be scheduled to set up a policy concerning duplication of records.

Board Member Betty Diboll seconded the motion, which received unanimous support from the board.

A motion to establish Gex's retainer fee at $250 a month, an increase from $216.66 a month in 1978, died for lack of a second.

McCullough announced the proposed raise, noting all salaries must be finalized in June.

Ginn asked how Gex's salary compared to salaries of other school board attorneys along the Gulf Coast.

McCullough said he checked with only one other school district, Hancock County Schools, and found Joseph Gex is receiving $300 a month.

Ginn requested McCullough check with other schools on the Gulf Coast and report to the board at a later meeting in June, but Board Member Walter Turcotte insisted on an immediate decision.

Turcotte's motion to increase Gex's salary to $250 a month was not seconded, and Board President Virginia Gex recommended the salary be established at a special meeting to be slated at another date.

McCullough and Lucien Gex are the only school employees who have not received salary hikes, and following the meeting the board president said both will be established at a special meeting later this month.

Also at the Monday meeting, the board approved a seven percent wage increase for teacher's aides.

The board also authorized an increase in sick leave pay and annual leave pay for teacher's aides.

Also, the board unanimously approved a recommendation by Brenda Scafield, special education supervisor for the system, to establish two additional special education classes in the school system.

According to McCullough, one class at Waveland Elementary will be for learning disabled students and another will be at Bay Junior High School for handicapped children.

On a motion by Diboll, seconded by Ginn, the board unanimously approved the extra classes.

McCullough also asked the board to approve hiring a new assistant high school football coach to fill the slot vacated by James "Snuffy" Smith when he moved up to head coach this year.

Bay Athletic Director Wilfred Seymour said Eddie E. Camley is head coach at Bowling Green High School in Franklin, La., and has had seven years experience as head coach.

Seymour said he and Smith are "very impressed" with Camley and added the assistant coach will take a drop in pay to move to the Bay schools.

On a motion by Diboll, seconded by Turcotte, the board unanimously approved hiring Camley.

Also Monday, the board approved bids on roofing at Bay Junior High and Waveland Elementary.

Dillman Inc. of Bay St. Louis was low bidder on both jobs, bidding $9,850 to repair a parapet flashing at Bay Junior High and re-roof Waveland Elementary for $32,083.

Only one other bid was received on the Junior High job, a $11,777 offer from Mandal Inc. of Gulfport.

Mandel also bid $35,889 on the Waveland job, along with Hibb Sheet Metal, $46,900; and Finlo Construction, $54,700; both of Hattiesburg.

A lengthy discussion was conducted concerning provisions of warranty on the jobs, and Gex said he will insure the craftsmanship is warranted for one year before the contracts are finalized.

The board also approved a payment of $13,635 for repairs and renovation of ceilings at the Junior High School.

Mrs. Gex announced a final balance of $20,784 remains to be paid on the reconstruction of the school following a ceiling collapse in December.

McCullough said the construction should be completed by the start of school in August, noting the only delay is in delivery of steel doors.

DANGER, DEEP WATER - Hancock County Civil Defense has erected yet another sign at the location of that dangerous hole in the surf near Gulfside Methodist Assembly and Buccaneer State Park. Officials have issued a plea to swimmers not to disturb the sign which is likely to be instrumental in saving lives at the re-opening of the beach. The sign, which was erected by the Civil Defense, remains in place.

for this important building which will have a major impact on the continued growth of Gulfport and the Coast area," said James T. Stevater, manager of Turner's Atlanta office.

Cushman and Wakefield, New York, has been engaged as project consultant. The firm will represent Hancock Bank in the intricate task of creating the new banking complex, supplying direction, supervision and professional expertise required to ensure the success of the construction project.

They have served as project consultant for such mammoth projects as the Sears Tower in Chicago; Bank of America, San Francisco; Citicorp Center, New York; and Deposit Guaranty National Bank, Jackson.

August Perez & Associates of New Orleans is one of the largest architectural firms in the Middle South. During the past three decades they have designed and executed more than a half-billion dollars in construction. They have been cited by the Louisiana Architects Association and the American Institute of Architects for their design talent.

Notable among honors received is the recent first place award from the nationally acclaimed competition to design a Piazza d'Italia in downtown New Orleans.

One Hancock Plaza has been planned to fit into the architectural and social framework of the city.

"Although the tower will be its focal point, the Plaza has been designed to stand out rather than stick out," according to Leo W. Seal, Jr., President of Hancock Bank.

Seal said the tower has been placed away from the street, surrounding it with lower building, parks and gardens.

The complex will also employ such traditional design elements as arches, colonnades and courtyards to soften the effect of the tower's height, he said.

And another feature is the outlying of the Plaza, designed in the shape of the Gulf Coast shoreline.

Gulfport Mayor Jack Barnett, one of several government officials taking part in groundbreaking ceremonies, said, "We are proud of One Hancock Plaza because it will breathe vitality into Gulfport and into the entire Gulf Coast area. We anticipate its opening with great enthusiasm."

Other dignitaries who shared the platform for the occasion were Donald E. Sutter, chairman of the board of directors of Hancock Bank; T. W. Milner, vice chairman; Gulfport Commissioner R. C. Randall, Dr. Richard L. Summers, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Gulfport.

Herring campaigns in Bay St. Louis

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Gubernatorial candidate Jim Herring, during a recent campaign visit to Bay St. Louis, announced, "I'll help ya'll (Hancock County) do whatever you want to do."

The candidate said economic development, honesty and crime are the issues facing Mississippi.

"Honesty is a paramount issue," Herring emphasized.

He said Mississippi's per capita income is 71 percent under the national average and 82 percent below the southeastern average and he will attempt to increase economic development in the state.

The candidate insisted Mississippi has the most favorable climate for industry, but "the state is not properly marketed."

"Mississippi is at its turning point in history," he remarked, "our population is rising—instead of falling, industry is beginning to develop."

"Mississippi is no longer considered a synonym for bad and backward in this country," he noted.

"We will accelerate, grow, but avoid the traps and mistakes of crime, instability and loss of faith in government by learning from the mistakes of other areas," he continued.

The candidate said he feels crime is a problem in Mississippi, "because I was a former district attorney and you would be surprised about the amount of organized crime in Mississippi."

Herring also believes Mississippi should "take the lead" in the investigation of alternative energy sources, such as solar energy and coal.

ELECT
EMILE G. PIAZZA
(Hancock County Coroner 24 Years)

SHERIFF
HANCOCK COUNTY

Having served Hancock County for twenty-four years as Coroner, I believe that I have the background necessary to establish, operate and administer the affairs of the Sheriff's Department, in the business-like manner intended. I am a veteran of World War II, having served in the U.S. Air Force four and a half years. I was shot down over Holland, where I was captured by the Germans and held P.O.W. for nine months.

I am a life-long citizen of Hancock County, having graduated from St. Stanislaus College. I then attended Southwestern University at Lafayette, Louisiana, for one and a half years. I hold certificates in the Basic Law Enforcement courses of the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy, Homicide Investigation and Advanced Homicide Investigation, from the University of Mississippi, Drug Identification from the University of Southern Mississippi, and various courses in Criminal Justice subjects from Mississippi Southern at Gulf Park. Lastly, drug: Identification, Addition and Investigation, from the U.S. Bureau of Dangerous Drugs & Narcotics.

I hold memberships in the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the International Academy of Criminology, and the National Police & Fire Fighters' Association.

I am fully aware of the extreme importance that a Sheriff's Department has upon a community. Visitors, new citizens and surely, business and industry are impressed by the quality of law enforcement in an area, and are more apt to settle and locate, where the per capita crime ratio is low, and "safety for citizens is the rule and not the exception."

To this end, I dedicate myself. Being a widower, I feel that I can devote the necessary time, 24 hours a day if necessary, to fulfill the requirements of a situation created by need or a tactical problem. Very importantly, I will be able to be contacted day or night, without exception.

On the question of personnel, I have not promised positions to anyone - politics not being the "name of the game." If I am elected, applications for Sheriff's Department positions will be given to those seeking positions, the same being awarded only to those best qualified men and women available in our area.

I fully intend that the Sheriff's Office will be open 24 hours a day for all of our citizens, whether it be a telephone call, or whether a personal visit to the office is necessary to conduct law enforcement business. There will be a qualified person in attendance to assist you at these times. Further, the Sheriff's Office will be open to all law enforcement officials, especially those having to do business in Hancock County, away from their respective offices.

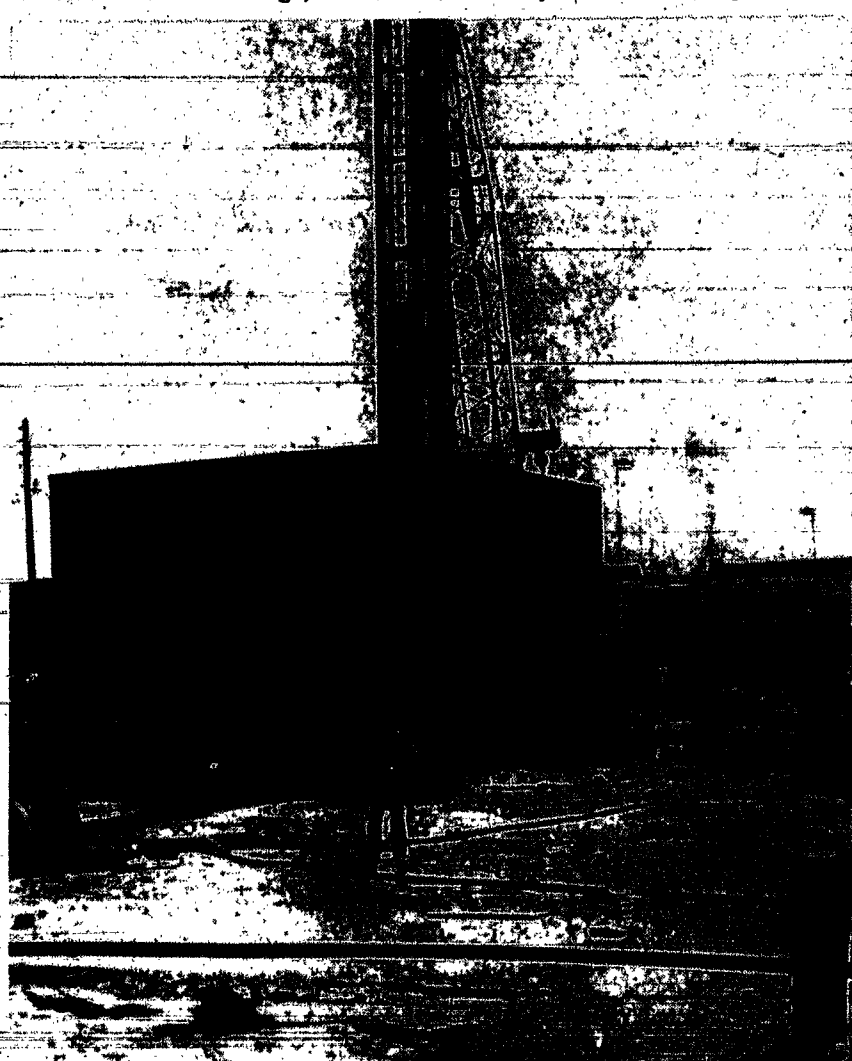

There will be a Deputy Sheriff in each of our five beats, 24 hours daily, seven days a week. A first for Hancock County will be the centralization of all law enforcement agencies through cooperative methods of assistance, each to the other, thereby giving better law enforcement coverage to all of our people.

Lastly, I feel that I can give a fair and impartial administration of justice to everyone. To the fullest, I intend to upgrade law enforcement in the area, by offering continuing in-service education to all of our officers.

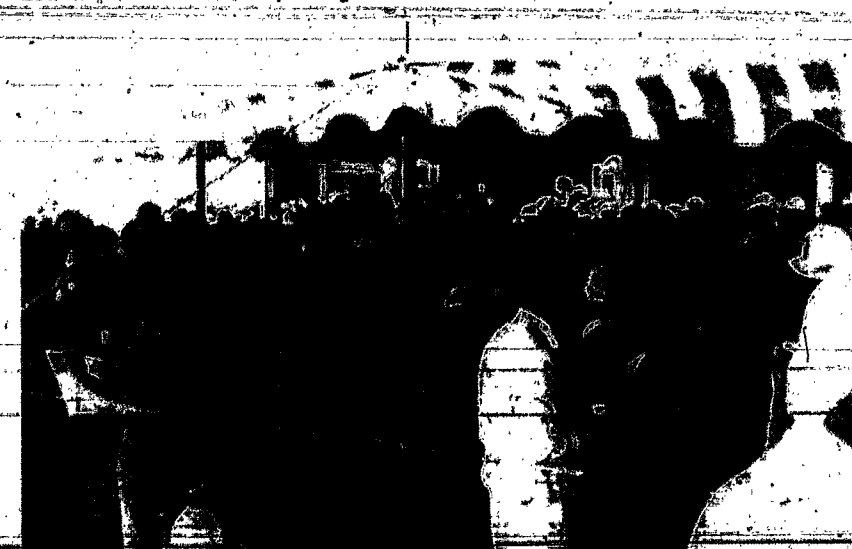

To this end, I pledge all of my resources. If this is the type of Sheriff's Office you want for Hancock County, I earnestly solicit your support and your vote. I will give you a modern law enforcement agency, and I assure you can be proudly proud.

City-County Library's June display features pharmaceutical items

A glimpse into the past of pharmacy when cure-all tonics were peddled by traveling salesmen, and pharmacists kept handwritten notebooks of cures can be caught by visitors to the City-County Library this month.

Antique pharmaceutical items and a set of prints depicting great moments in pharmacy, collected by Hancock General Hospital pharmacist Charles A. Thomas, will be shown throughout June in the front display case and the Crawford Room.

Thomas began gathering the antiques in 1946, learning about new pieces by word of mouth and swapping with fellow collectors in the area. His unique collection now contains some objects dating back to the early 1800's.

Setting or hanging in the window of every pharmacy in those days was an apothecary show globe filled with colored water. A candle or kerosene lamp was placed behind it at night, so people in need of medicine could find the shop, said Thomas.

Also, during plagues or influenza epidemics the globes were filled with red coloring to warn travellers not to stop in the town, he added.

Stepping inside a pharmacy, a visitor would see an array of apothecary bottles, and the symbols of the profession, a mortar and a pestle. Thomas's collection of bottles, still labeled clearly, were used in the late 1800's and early 1900's. Replicas of mortar and pestles from the 17th and 18th centuries representing different countries in Europe are another feature of the exhibit.

Pharmaceutical scales were also a necessity in the old apothecary shops for weighing bulk pharmaceuticals.

Included in Thomas's collection is a scale set in a marble base with a patent date of 1888.

Before pharmaceuticals were mass produced, pharmacists kept notebooks of formulas, recipes and remedies. A notebook kept by J.G. Hermann, a Kansas pharmacist, is displayed with the collection, offering cures for epilepsy and earaches and a cough syrup of tar and wild cherry.

Reproductions of the forty original oil paintings in a series, "A History of Pharmacy in Pictures," are on display in the Crawford Room of the library.

Author George A. Bender and artist Robert A. Thom traveled nearly a quarter million miles over a 10 year period doing research for the stories and pictures in the series.

Bay resident's company marks 50th anniversary

Industrial Electric Inc., a New Orleans electrical sign company founded by Edmond M. Brignac of Bay St. Louis, this week is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

The company, which manufactures, installs and maintains electrical signs, was built by Brignac and remains a family business after 50 years.

His sister and four brothers joined the company early in its existence.

More recently, they were succeeded by his two sons, Edmond M. Brignac Jr. and Albert J. Brignac, who with their father, comprise the executive management of the company.

Eddie Brignac Sr., as a 20-year old man with a seventh grade education, left a secure job in a New Orleans bank to work in an electric-motor shop because he wanted to learn a trade.

In 1929 he opened his own shop with his $1,000 life savings. In the early 1930's he bought a neon sign shop.

In addition to its manufacturing division for all types of electrical signs, Industrial Electric maintains an architectural sign division which provides sign components for building exteriors and interior graphics and a maintenance division which keeps signs throughout the New Orleans area in top working condition through programmed inspection and repair.

The Brignac sons point out that the sign business is man's oldest form of visual communication.

Victim calls flood quotas 'injustice to individual'

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

A Pearlinton resident, whose home was damaged by April floodwaters, feels the U.S. government's quota preventing federal assistance to homeowners in her area is "an injustice to the individual."

Ms. Shirley T. Torregano complains the Small Business Administration, a federal agency, refuses to aid flood-water victims in the Pearlinton area because only 11 homes and not 25 (an SBA requirement) were structurally damaged.

"The government taxes the individual," she retorts "and they should provide assistance the same way—individually."

"The government does not require a quota to tax us," she maintains.

Hancock County Civil Defense Director Robert Boudin states the Small Business Administration provides loans to disaster victims.

He said SBA guidelines require 25 homes, or 5 businesses and 20 homes, or a combination thereof of to be structurally damaged before the SBA will provide the loans.

James Lewis, loan officer at the Small Business Administration's Jackson office verified Boudin's statement.

"Yes, we provide low-interest loans for the uninsured portion of a person's physical property—a maximum of $10,000 for personal property and $50,000 for homes," Lewis explained.

The loan officer said the 25-home-business quota policy was set in Washington.

Torregano feels disaster victims in Pearlinton should receive whatever relief is provided to other disaster victims throughout Mississippi.

The Pearlinton resident reports her home was submerged in about sixteen inches of water and flooding near her home prevented her from returning to her home for seven days.

In a letter to the president of the United States Ms. Torregano states: "During the week of April 22 through April 28, 1979, the waters of the Pearl River flooded some five and one-half feet above its banks here in Pearlinton, Mississippi.

"My home is located some fifty feet from a bayou which is a tributary of that river.

"We the town's people were advised the river would crest on Wednesday, April 25. But, to our dismay, and ten other families in this community who suffered water damages in their homes.

"My son drove from Jackson, Michigan to assist in the clean-up process of disinfecting, and cleaning mud.

"We were assisted by the Red Cross, Civil Defense and County Supervisor.

"After numerous phone calls to the state capital and other locations by all concerned, we were finally visited by a team of assessors. Now, after more than four weeks of waiting, I have been informed that no help is forthcoming. This means we will not be eligible for SBA, HUD or any other applicable funds.

"To my knowledge, none of us are wards of the state or dependant on government for support; nor are we a wealthy people.

"Everyone in this small community works hard to obtain the necessities of life. We all support our government but now we are told by that same government that we are only eleven homes.

"We did not make a quota of twenty-five, so eleven are to be ignored; tossed aside.

"In 1971, my mother, Mrs. Arnett Giles was awarded the national Voluntary Award for her services in helping people all her life. She is now deceased, but I know if she were alive today, she would not stand still for the rejection of this community.

"Though we are small in number and insignificant, we are still part of this United States and would like to be recognized as such," the letter concludes.

A detailed study of flood-hazard areas in Hancock County will be funded by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, Office of Federal Insurance and Hazard Mitigation.

The study will be funded under authority of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 and the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973.

"Announcement of this study is intended to notify all interested persons of the commencement of this study so they may have an opportunity to attend a public meeting scheduled Wednesday, June 20, at 10 a.m. in the Hancock County Courthouse Supervisor's Board Room," the emergency agency reports.

The purpose of the study is to examine and evaluate flood-hazard areas which are developed and which are likely to be developed. The study will also determine flood elevations for those areas.

Flood elevations will be used by the community to carry out flood plan management objectives of the National Insurance Program.

"Elevations will be used as the basis for determining the appropriate flood insurance premium rates applicable for new buildings and their contents, as well as determining the rates to be used for additional amounts of insurance on existing buildings and contents," the emergency agency explains.

At the June meeting, an official from the Office of Federal Insurance and Hazard Mitigation will discuss the nature and purpose of the flood insurance study and outline specific areas to be studied.

"All persons with information about past floods," requests the emergency agency, "should bring this information to the attention of local officials so it can be forwarded to the Office of Federal Insurance and Hazard Mitigation for use in the study."

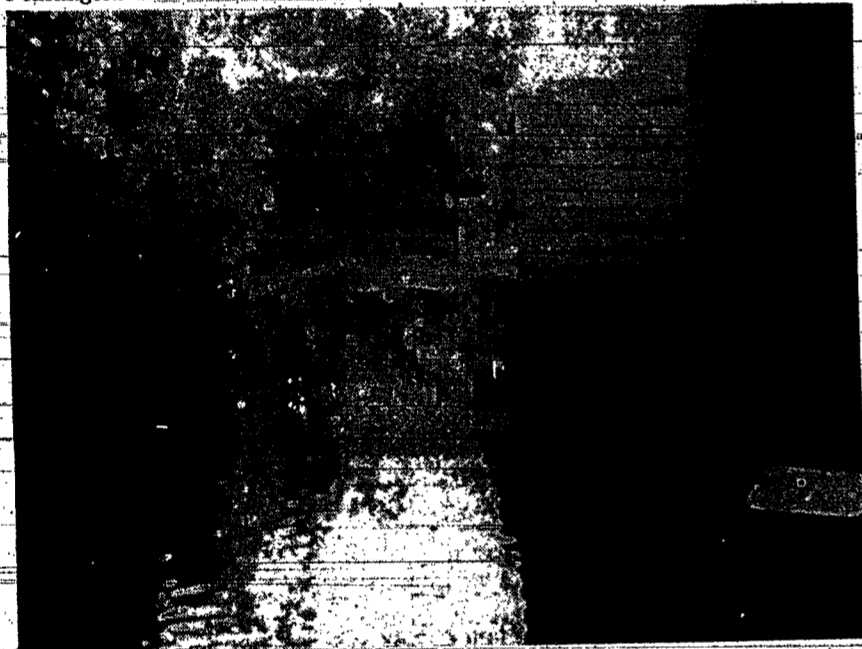

In connection with the spring floods this year, a total of 33 counties have been designated eligible for federal assistance by the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration Administrator.

Included are Adams, Attala, Choctaw, Claiborne, Clay, Clarke, Copiah, Hinds, Holmes, Issaquena, Kemper, Lauderdale, Lawrence, Leake, Leflore, Lowndes, Madison, Marion, Monroe, Montgomery, Neshoba, Newton, Noxubee, Oktibbeha, Panola, Rankin, Scott, Sharkey, Simpson, Warren, Wilkerson, Winston, and Yazoo counties.

"Taxpayers who need help in preparing their returns or claiming refunds should contact their local Internal Revenue office," the IRS urges.

"Tax Law permits taxpayers in areas designated eligible for federal disaster assistance to deduct losses on either their 1979, or 1978 tax return."

Two "helpful" booklets, Publication 547, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses and Thefts," and Publication 584, "Workbook for Determining Your Disaster Loss" are provided free and may be obtained from IRS offices.

VICTIM'S HOME—Water marks on Ms. Shirley Torregano's home in Pearlinton indicate the height of East Pearl River floodwaters which entered her residence during the latter days of April. Some 10 other homes in the area also suffered structural damage, but have been ruled ineligible for federal assistance by Small Business Administration officials in Washington. MISSISSIPPI CONSUMER REPORT

A Service of the Consumer Protection Division
Of The Office Of
A. F. Summer, Attorney General

CONSUMER ALERT

Have you seen the full-page newspaper ads recently inviting you to purchase beef for your freezer at only "89 cents per pound?"

Don't be misled. You should be aware that there are several grades of beef, and only a very poor quality can be sold at 89 cents per pound.

Also, when you read the ad carefully, you will find that it contains a statement in small print—"subject to cutting loss," which indicates that you may be paying considerably more per pound for the edible product.

When high grade beef is selling on the hoof for $1.30 per pound today, it is difficult to believe that you can purchase good beef for 89 cents per pound, especially after 40 to 50 percent of the body weight is lost when butchered.

Be on the lookout for the old "bait and switch" scheme. A negative selling method which may be used is one in which you are taken into the cooler and shown a carcass of very poor quality at 89 cents per pound hanging by a very attractive succulent carcass which costs much more.

You may be switched to the higher grade of beef at a much higher price.

Obtain all the facts before you actually make the purchase, then compare the actual price per edible pound of beef with that offered by other businesses. Make sure your bargain is a true bargain.

Youth Drowned...

the shore of the bayou a few yards from where he went down, wet and hysterical, the sheriff reported.

Sheriff's Deputies Chris Sands, A.J. Cuevas, and a civil defense boat operator, James Varnell, began dragging for the body, Ladner said.

The sheriff said the youth was brought to the surface on the second drag attempt, and the sheriff began to give the child mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

"He threw up some water and I thought I saw his eye move—Jimmy (Travirca) said he saw the eyes move too," Ladner said after the child was rushed to the hospital by Mobil Medic.

The hospital reported the boy had a weak pulse, but personnel were unable to save him with mechanical resuscitation devices.

Ladner reported the child had been under the water for some 45 minutes before attempts to revive him were possible.

At the drowning scene, the sheriff received a call on the radio informing him the hospital believed the youth would live.

"We just got word from the hospital, and they say it looks like he may make it," the dispatcher said.

"Oh my God," the sheriff exclaimed, breaking into tears of happiness and receiving congratulations from officials nearby.

The family lived in a small tent pitched on the shore of the bayou, but were planning to build a home and had already driven pilings, Ladner reported.

FBI's crime alert warns of moped vulnerability

Motorized bicycles, or "mopeds," long popular in Europe and Asia, are becoming increasingly common not only on the streets of America but in theft reports of our local police departments.

These two-wheeled vehicles, which operate on either gasoline or leg power, are extremely vulnerable to theft.

Since most models require no key to start, a thief can simply climb on a "moped" which has been left unsecured and drive or pedal it away.

Some crime resistance measures that can help protect "mopeds" against theft include:

When not in use, "mopeds" should be secured with a sturdy chain and strong padlock. The chain should be run through both wheels and the frame and fastened to a solid, stationary object.

Whenever possible, "mopeds" should be etched or stamped into the frame of the vehicle. Local law enforcement agencies can provide information regarding personal identifying numbers that will be traceable to the owner.

If a vehicle is marked with a personal identifying number (preferable in more than one location), a sticker or decal should be put on the vehicle indicating that it is so marked.

This may deter thieves by informing them that the vehicle can be traced if stolen and recovered. Local law enforcement agencies can advise citizens where to obtain such decals.

Hancock County Fleet Blessing

Features

Blessing of The Fleet at Bayou Cadet last Saturday was more than blessing of 13 boats and a decoration competition. The event reflected lighthearted play of children, top left and right center. The celebrants included a couple joining in the county's cultural activity, top center.

It was a time for families to assemble and enjoy the sights and sounds of the happening, left center. To others it meant preparation—fastening streamers for competition, above, or repairing a boat motor before the fleet shoved off, left center.

And still, to others it provided a chance for friends to gather and share a few laughs, right center.

A celebrity was on hand, Miss Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, bottom right.

Bishop Joseph L. Howze of the Biloxi Diocese blessed the fishing vessels and in a symbolic gesture to ensure safety during the upcoming shrimping season, presented each boat with a St. Christopher's plaque.

The Aloha, owned by Lawrence (Boo) Noto of Bay St. Louis, won first place in decoration competition, bottom right; Waveland fishermen Tom Holzhauser's boat the John Mavar took second; and Sherman Necaise' of Lakeshore won third place for his boat, Uranus, top right.

Ed Blake waxes poetic on rare Lady's Slipper

THE LADY'S SLIPPERS
A modern tragedy lies in the fact that the vast majority of rural Mississippians, middle aged or younger, are destined to live out their lives without ever experiencing the thrill of exploring the poky pace of springtime across the wrinkled brow of an undisturbed woodland area to come face to face with a singularly beautiful lady's slipper orchid.

Not only is this circumstance a reflection on our ecological times that so few still exist today, but also on our very lifestyle when so few people have the interest and tenacity to venture into a habitat whose perils are grossly overrated to experience some of the truly finest sensations of the intricate fabric of life.

This writer conscientiously set out seven years ago to find this occasionally still persisting queen of the wildflowers, goaded on by statements from my elders of their discoveries of another day in less sophisticated times.

But, on with the search in a moment, after we first describe this marvel of nature that has so enticed lovers of the out-of-doors since time began.

The lady's slipper is perhaps our most familiar native orchid world-wide, appearing in various countries and habitats in varying forms. Possibly the only variety native to Mississippi is the yellow lady's slipper, a veritable species in its own right which ranges from the woodlands of Europe and Asia into North America.

On this continent it ranges in bogs, swamps and woodlands from Newfoundland to British Columbia and southward to New Jersey, the mountains of Georgia and Tennessee, hence across the Appalachian type foothills of Mississippi appearing occasionally in all instances even into Louisiana and New Mexico.

They skip the arid far western plains to show up again in the rain prone mountains of Washington state.

This 'slipper' orchid derives its name from the flower's resemblance to the sandal or slipper (pedilum) of Aphrodite, the goddess of love and beauty who was born on the island of Cyprus; hence, the family name of cypripedium - a combination of the latin forms for Cyprus and sandal.

It is best to be prepared to come into the presence of this charming plant. Its roots feed on rich, undisturbed humus in virgin-like woods. The stem rises nearly two feet high and the plant has from three to five somewhat cane-like leaves topped by from one to two extraordinary yellow flowers streaked with red ribs. The rich slipper is poised with the opening uppermost as though it is ready for a fairy princess to slip a foot inside and step down onto April's carpet for a nymph-like dance beneath the small shafts of sunlight occasionally piercing the high forest canopy overhead.

The sheer beauty of the flower, and its habitat, is superlative in every sense.

Now, having described this rare visitor in our midst, where does one find it? Without a knowledgeable guide you probably won't, even if you live to be a hundred. I sought this elusive plant on my own and somewhat diligently for five years. I was goaded on by a Stoneville, Miss., plant scientist who told of his discovery of a colony of them in a rare ravine in Webster county while he was a student in college.

A Lion's Club member at Laurel recalled seeing them in his youth on this father's place in Winston county. But where are they today? Two years ago this writer continued his quest for help at a Mississippi Wildflower program he put on during National Library Week at the Ripley Public Library. The next day librarian Tom Covington went out and discovered one in a remote area of Tippah county, sharing its woodsey habitat with an even rarer Showy Orchid.

He shared the discovery with me on a stormy afternoon and we photographed it in the rain. Older Tippah countians were familiar with the spectacular plant.

Last month I was led into the hills of Clay county to see four plants, already having flowered, within a space of 12 feet. Simultaneously there was a report from a reliable forester of a colony found this spring in Lee county.

Thus we know fortunately that this beleaguered queen of the wildflower kingdom still reigns over her time tattered kingdom here in Mississippi. God save the Queen!

Senator Cochran's mobile office to visit Tuesday

U.S. Senator Thad Cochran's mobile field office will visit Bay St. Louis, Tuesday from 2-4 p.m. The office will be set up in the Youth Center courtroom. The newly inaugurated mobile office program is intended to offer local residents a chance to discuss their problems with Cochran's staff. "A mobile field office is the most effective and most economical way to provide constituent services to the greatest possible number of Mississippians. Rather than ask people who need assistance to travel to a state or a regional office, we will be able to visit each of the 82 counties on a periodic basis," Cochran said. Cochran said the mobile unit's Gulf Coast trip includes the following stops:

Tuesday, June 19, Bay St. Louis, Youth Court Building in the courtroom, 2:00-4:00 p.m. Wednesday, June 20, Gulfport, Harrison County Courthouse, Grand Jury Room, 9:30-11:30 a.m. Biloxi, Harrison County Courthouse, Board of Supervisor's Room, 2:00-4:00 p.m. and Thursday, June 21, Pascagoula, Chancery Court Building, Conference Room 210, 9:30-11:30 a.m. "Anyone who has a problem with the federal government, or who has a special concern about a matter before the Senate is invited to stop by and talk to my staff," the Senator added.

NOTICE TO THE CITIZENS OF HANCOCK COUNTY
Several bills have been adopted by recent acts of the Mississippi Legislature that may be of interest to some of our fellow Hancock Countians, in this regard I would like to make you aware of them.
NEW LAW FOR THE PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED
Beginning July 1, 1979, physically handicapped persons can obtain a special license plate decal and parking certificate. These items will be issued, free of charge to applicants through the local tax collector's office. The following rules will apply:
1. An affidavit signed by applicant and physician.
2. Proof of ownership of motor vehicle or the vehicle will be used for handicapped applicant. The decal and or parking certificate will grant parking privileges in restricted handicapped parking areas through the state. The term "physically handicapped" when used for this privilege shall mean only those persons whose physical handicap requires them permanently or indefinitely to use a wheel chair or crutches in lieu of walking. 1979 HB No. 159.
PRISONER OF WAR OR MEDAL OF HONOR RECIPIENTS: HB NO. 529
Effective July 1, 1979, House Bill No. 529 exempts from privilege taxes, vehicle registration fees and ad valorem taxes one (1) motor vehicle or pickup truck owned by a former prisoner of war or a recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor. Any such person is required to show proof of ownership of the vehicle for which a license tag is requested and present a certificate from the State Veterans Affairs Board stating he is a former prisoner of war or a recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor. Former prisoners of war may obtain a distinctive license tag which bears the words "EX-POW."
FARM PRODUCE: SENATE BILL NO. 2131
Under the provisions of the bill, those persons selling farm products which were grown by them in Mississippi are exempted from the local privilege tax of $25.00 levied on transient vendors.
SENATE BILL 2734
The bill provides that any blind or physically disabled person or any other person at least 18 years of age who does not have a driver's license may be issued an identification card by the Department of Public Safety. To obtain an identification card, such person must make application to the Department of Public Safety and furnish documentary evidence of age and identity. The fee for the identification card is $1.50.
The card will resemble a driver's license. A card issued to a person under 21 years of age shall bear the word "minor" on the face of the card. Such a card will expire on the 21st birthday of the person to whom it is issued.
SENATE BILL 2622: HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION:
Effective January 1, 1980, there is a homestead exemption from all ad valorem taxes, including the local millage tax, to persons 65 years of age or older who are blind or physically disabled under Federal Social Security Act. (Persons 65 years of age or older and 65 and over are exempted from the local privilege tax on not in excess of $1000 of assessed value.)
The bill also provides that the exemption shall not be lost if the person is not at any time during the year of assessment.

SCARY NOISES
Fish can "hear" sounds in the water through a dual system of nerve cells along the lateral line, plus an inner ear. These two systems detect vibrations in the water that come from noises on the surface. Knowing this, anglers need to be especially quiet when fishing from a boat because water amplifies sound and carries it a long way.

Wildlife Commission sets 1979-80 hunting seasons

As a result of nine special public hearings held across Mississippi, the state Game and Fish Commission's 11-member board finalized the 1979-80 hunting regulations. After hearing from special hunting interest across the state and recommendations from agency biologists, the Commission established rules and regulations which is expected to affect some 700,000 state and non-resident hunters. Several significant changes were made over last year's regulations.

State deer hunters will have some 113 days to hunt beginning with the first archery season October 6 and ending with the last day for deer hunting on January 31, 1980.

Archery hunters will again have their special bow season from January 16 through January 31, however, it will be for bucks only this year.

"This year trappers who take fox and bobcat will have their seasons shortened by 18 days due to data we have acquired which indicates that pelts of land-based animals are not the prime quality that manufacturers prefer when fox and bobcat are taken very late in the season. We also want to avoid interfering with the reproductive period of certain fur-bearing species like the red fox," Game and Fish Director Joe Stone explained.

"It has been proven over and over that the value of inferior animal skins taken late in the season drops drastically in quality and price," he added. In addition, Stone said, it will be illegal this year to possess "green" or unprime pelts of any kind for market purposes before the first day of the trapping season which opens December 1.

"Last year hunters could use their dogs and guns to take raccoons for pelts and food as early as November 4. This year dog hunters will be allowed to sport hunt with their dogs and gun for food only from November 3 until onset of the trapping season December 1," Stone said. The bag limit is one per person and two per party of hunters. The possession limit is two."

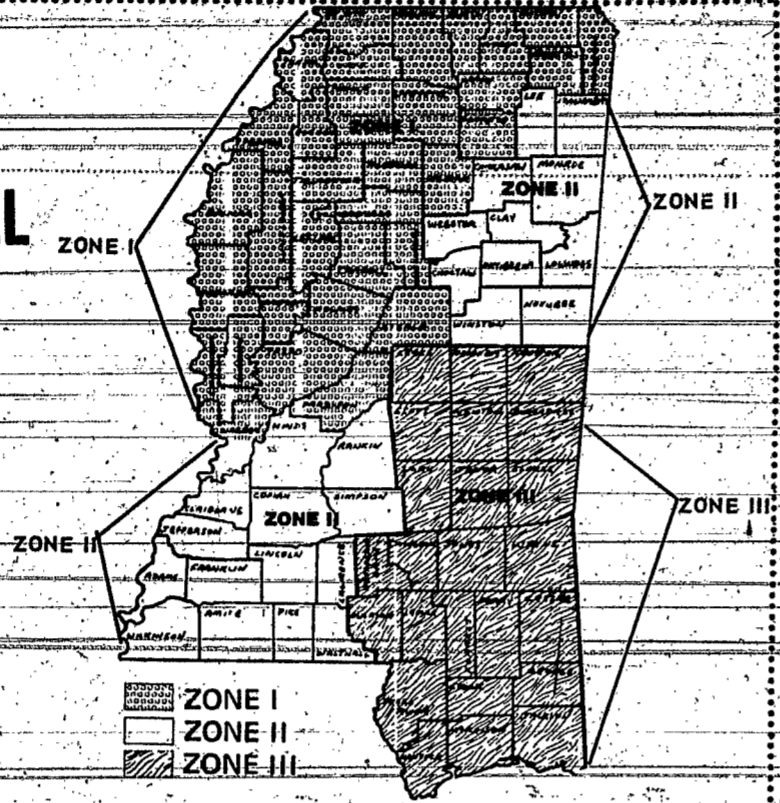

The restrictive regulations during this November dog season, and the liberal no-bag limit during the later trapping season, were formulated biologists say, to bring about a more equitable and beneficial harvest to hunters and trappers.

"Of course when the trapping season opens, hunters as well as trappers may then take raccoon and opossum for market purposes in addition to food. During this season there is no big limit," Stone said. Stone indicated that Game and Fish Commission research showed that pelts on raccoons taken before December 1 are not desirable for market. Prices for these pelts reflect this, experts say. In past hunting seasons shooters have hunted raccoons before the early December trapping period. They kept these inferior skins and later sold them for a considerable low price on the fur market.

Stone emphasized the fact that this year bobcats are protected by the commission regulation and may be taken only by licensed trappers during the trapping season. For the remainder of the year bobcats may be chased but not killed by licensed hunters.

Other hunting seasons and dates include:

Quail: November 22-February 19, statewide; Rabbit-October 6-February 26, statewide;

Squirrel: September 29-December 23-Zone I (counties north of and including Warren, north of I-20, Yazoo, Madison, Montgomery, Attala, Grenada, Calhoun, Pontotoc, Union, Prentiss and Tishomingo);

October 13-January 6-Zone II (counties of Adams, Amite, Chickasaw, Choctaw, Claiborne, Clay, Copiah, Franklin, Hinds, Itawamba, Jefferson, Lawrence, Lee, Lincoln, Lowndes, Monroe, Noxubee, Oktibbeha, Pike, Rankin, Simpson, Walthall, Warren south of I-20, Webster, Wilkinson, Winston);

November 3-January 27-Zone III (all counties not included above).

Opossum and Raccoon: October 20-31 without gun for food; November 3-November 30 with gun for food; December 1-February 15 with gun for food and pelt.

Wild Turkey-March 22-April 2, April 4-April 27. For counties, see Digest published by Mississippi Game and Fish Commission.

Swimming classes offered at Stanislaus by Red Cross

By RICH ADAMS

Some 145 children are participating in a free Red Cross beginner swimming class being conducted this week at the St. Stanislaus swimming pool in Bay St. Louis.

Brother Albert Leret, swimming instructor, said another class will be offered beginning Monday with registration at the swimming pool.

He said last week some 50 children enjoyed a beginner swimming course and 30 of those passed the instruction.

At the crowded pool Monday Brother Albert explained future classes for advanced swimmers and discussed volunteer helpers, which he calls the backbone of the free swimming program.

"The American Red Cross is conducting a series of swimming lessons, and this is the beginning class," Brother Albert said.

"The age group starts at kindergarten age, and most of the children here are between ages six to 14," he continued as volunteer instructors supported youths and showed them how to float on their backs.

"In the beginning class, we start with children who know nothing about swimming and advance so at the end of the program they can jump into the deep end of the pool, swim half-way across, (about 43 feet), float on their back, and flip over and swim back. It's teaches them to take care of themselves in deep water," he explained.

"In an advanced beginner class we will offer, the child will learn how to swim on his back, stomach, how to float, tread water, and do what we call the survival float," Brother Albert added.

"By that time they are pretty good swimmers, and we can take them further in an intermediate class where we teach them different strokes," he said.

Brother Albert said he has volunteers who assist in instruction, some brothers and sisters of children enrolled in the class.

"These instructors are the backbone of this organization: Jeannette Handshoe, Marilyn Fayard, and Dot Kewenaw are the three primary instructors and we have some 20 or 30 volunteer who help us out," he said.

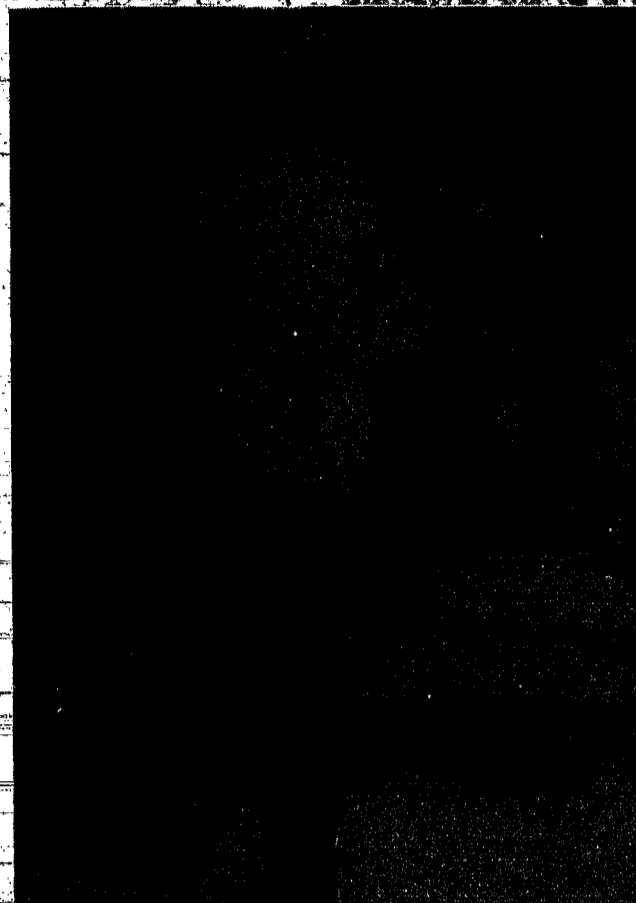

Registration for the swimming program will be conducted Monday morning at the swimming pool behind St. Stanislaus.

The fishing in our area should start improving very soon. Our local water is starting to clear up and salt water is moving in closer to the beaches.

The Pearl River, Jourdan River and other local tributaries are getting salty. When this condition starts to take place, the fresh water fish move farther up stream and salt water fish move in.

Some salt water fish that can be caught in local waters are founder, speckled trout, croaker and red fish.

Some of our local fishermen caught some fish this past week. James Calhoun and party braved the wind and rough seas Monday and caught a few fish, but mostly they had a joy ride and enjoyed the scenery along the way. Better luck next time James.

Floyd Lazro and Jerry Holland caught a nice mess of specks Friday. Floyd is one of our local dedicated sportsmen.

Donald Harvill, Mark France and yours truly caught an ice chest full of specks in the marshes last week. Donald and Mark are two of our local upcoming anglers.

The Biloxi Kiwanis International fishing rodeo will start tomorrow and run through Sunday, so if you plan on fishing in the rodeo, be sure to get registered.

The Mississippi shrimp season opens tomorrow at noon. Hope you got that old boat rigged and ready to go. Shrimp license can be bought at the Pass Christian boat harbor.

Hope to see you out there! Please accept my apology, Kevin Kremenetz, for leaving out your name as a winner in the Bay-Waveland-Rod and Gun Fishing Rodeo.

Kevin made a fine catch of a two pounds 11 ounces red fish to take third place.

FISHING CAMP NEWS
La France - The fishing is getting better and some good catches have been made.

Otis Lee and party from Poplarville caught 200 and 300 specks over the weekend.

Mike Cokus and party caught some nice red fish and specks at Half Moon Island.

James Martin caught a big red fish and was real proud of it. Mrs. Hall reported to me that they have live bait and rental skiffs and they open at 5 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Mrs. Hall reports.

Baxters - This past week was not the hottest, but some brem were caught on worms and crickets. Crickets were the best bait.

Some bass were caught and the best spots were Buck Bayou, Bogue Houma Bayou and upper and lower Black Bayou.

Roy Baxter reported that the water is clearing up so fishing should improve.

Joe's Bayou - There were several reports last weekend of trout, croakers and small red fish being caught near US 90 bridge.

If you are interested, one man and his granddaughter caught 9 small stingrays. Mrs. Ollie Cospelich reported to me that she has plenty of live and frozen bait.

Bordages - The water is getting pretty good. Wilfred Bordages reported to me that some nice speckled trout were caught at Half Moon Sunday.

Mr. Bordages also reported that all we need is some good weather to catch fish because there are plenty of fish to be caught. Live bait is available, Mr. Bordages reports.

WHAT ABOUT TRIM?

The proper trim on our beef is important at A&P's Butcher Shop because we don't want you to pay, or even think you're paying one penny extra for unnecessary bone and fat. It's a precise business. We have to trim the beef so the extra bone and fat is taken off before the retail cut is weighed, packaged and priced by weight. Yet we have to leave on just enough fat cover for full flavor. At A&P we trim off all fat in excess of 1/4 inch.

PRECISE TRIM—LOOK FOR IT NEXT TIME YOU VISIT THE BUTCHER SHOP.

Happenings

By Eve McDonald

We had a Luau! Some 87 seniors and all of the staff really had a ball. The food was delicious. Gerry Blanchard and Lela Curry were the head cooks and served with the help of many.

Beautiful cakes (coconut, of course) was furnished by: Eunice Arnold, Georgie Diebold, Esther Cuevas, Margaret Smith, Maggie Dambrino, Thelma White, Genevieve Cole, Esther Bussey, and Margaret Favre.

The beautiful decorations were made by the Day Care participants. We had palm trees on the tables, flowers hanging from the light fixtures, and each guest received a lei as they entered.

Esther Oschmann obtained bananas and coconuts for us, everyone got a banana and the coconuts were door prizes.

For entertainment we had Barbara Vaughn and Nadine Pittman who did the hula for us. Theresa James brought her Hawaiian music tapes which were played throughout the party. Everyone enjoyed the fun.

GERONTOLOGY SOCIETY
The Mississippi Gerontological Society was formed last week by interested persons who work with older Americans and by the older American themselves.

We hope in this group to represent the interests of seniors at the local level and promote their best interests in our areas of work.

Too long legislation and policy has been decided by agencies that are not working directly with the senior citizen.

We hope to be able to share experience and ideas with each other and support each other in the best interest of the senior citizens of this state.

More about this later. Call the Center if you want further information.

AARP

Mrs. Oschmann reports the following:

Paul Loup, assistant district director, called a meeting of the local chapter, Picoyune, Poplarville, and Pearl River Chapters.

The meeting was in Picoyune and all officers attended.

The June meeting will be an anniversary party of the Hancock Chapter of AARP.

We will have a covered dish lunch with music and door prizes. Everyone is urged to attend.

RSVP READING PROGRAM

This very fine program is under way, but it is not too late to join in. Mrs. Esther Oschmann, 467-5033, can fill you in on the details.

program to assist children in their reading during the summer. Some of the ladies that have started already have reported about the good time they are having with the children.

FUNDING

Funding for our Senior Citizen Programs is from the United Way, cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, and the State Department of Public Welfare.

It is because our local people support these programs that federal funds are available through the Welfare Department.

WAVELAND

We still have blood pressure readings along with coffee and biscuits on Tuesday mornings at the Civic Center. Come by and visit and get a pressure check.

Waveland Senior Citizens will be having their own column written by President Pere Cabibi and she will keep you up to date on their doings.

CLOSING

We sure do miss Fred Horn and his fine column writing.

We are doing the best we can until we are allowed a replacement for Fred. If you have any news, please let us know at the Center. Our phone number is 467-5763 or 467-8222. Also, please bear with us if we do not get all of the news.

Waveland seniors stage final meet until fall

By PERE CABIBI

Club President Senior Citizens of Waveland, Inc. held its final monthly meeting for the summer with a covered dish dinner on Monday at Waveland Civic Center.

Entree was furnished by the Club.

The function was chaired by Mrs. Ada Belsome with co-chairman Mrs. Dorothy Led.

Decorations chairman was Mrs. Ethel Manning. Chairman of telephone committee Mrs. Marie Longo contacted all 130 members to assure a good turn-out.

Gourmet food, happy reunion, fun and games were on the Agenda.

Our club wishes to thank the Sea Coast Echo for all the publicity given us in the past.

SOME PEOPLE WILL TRY ANYTHING—Rod Stieff, Dennis Stieff and Gordon Beh display drum caught by none of them off the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club last Thursday morning. Reliable informants report fish was caught by Bishop Stieff, brother of two of the trio, on a 10 lb. test line with a light fishing rod. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas)
